I'm very thankful to you because

Legit, my mind is blown! I knew people would give, but I didn't expect such a massive turnout! Your generosity choked me!

Furst ov foxt, we did it! I couldn't have done it without you! Yes you!

To the 83 people who donated to both MissionFunds and the Missionary's Widow Support, my God! Thank you so much.

It's one thing to call for funds, it's another thing to call for funds for missions, there was a call and you answered, and I pray that whenever you call for anything in life, you'll receive speedy answers.

It is with Jesus joy that I let you know you're holding a comprehensive report of #MissionFunds. I also think that it would interest you to know that because you gave, a widow found succor and a lirru beet ov financial stability.

I'm very thankful to you because

Still because of your giving, students who are children to believers can write SSCE exams as your funds were used to complete an almost abandoned school project.

God bless you richly and there is a mighty supply for you!

Let's do this again sometime soon, shall we?

Utmost love from me to you.

Thank you again for giving to the Lord.

How it Started

It actually started with a tweet and a desire. Missions and giving to Missionaries have always been on my heart since I was a child. Infact, the goal was to adopt a mission field at 25, but let's thank God for where we are.

I quoted a tweet asking what I'd like to do in the new year (see tweet below).

@TheTaiwoQueen

My birthday wishlist will be to crowdfund money for missionaries in northern Nigeria

I then pinned the tweet, to remind me of my promise

How it Started

In March, I swung into action, created the flier and a Paystack link. Shared on my social media pages (Twitter and Instagram). I started 2 months before the date to enable me gather as much resources as I could.

We were fine until Paystack said NO, we couldn't use their platforms again. They gave a few reasons like I wasn't an NGO and if I would crowdfund, I would need a license from CBN. It didn't make sense to me because, people use their platforms for birthday wishlists and things like that. I was pained, very pained. But I moved, continued with the regular bank account details like a champ!

How it Started

May 21st is my 25th birthday!

My only wish this year is to crowdfund
money for Missionaries in Northern Nigeria

Hold up, there's more

After the donations, on my way home. I started getting thank you messages from the fields we partnered with, that's when I learnt that Pastor Jeremiah Ishaku's partner, Bro Leviticus Makpa was killed on the 21st May and he had to combine both fields. You can read more about it here

God being gracious, we had a $100 bill we were yet to convert to naira and a #5k donation that came after the deposits were made to the bank. We raised #164,000 for the widow.

These donations were sent to his Widow, Madam Benita Makpa on 13th July 2021, a few months after #MissionFunds closed out, because she needed as much time as she could get to mourn her husband and son.

Hold' up, there's more

We're very thankful for Madam Benita, because at the moment, she's currently enrolled in a school of ministry to help her continue what her husband started before he went home to be with the Lord.

Please, remember her and her baby girl in your prayers

Finally.....

Borrowing a leaf or two from Apostle Paul, finally my brethren, according to the 2020, Open Doors USA Report, Nigeria is currently in the top 10 countries where Christians face persecution the most.

International Christian Concern (ICC) estimates between 50,000 and 70,000 Christians have been killed in the last decade in Nigeria.

The number of defenseless Christians killed in Nigeria from Jan to April 2021 being 1,470; out of which Jihadist Fulani Herdsmen accounted for the death of over 800."

You can read more here and here.

I said all that to say this, you can do something about it. A lot! You can pray for believers facing persecution and even the persecutors and you can GIVEEEEEEE

Finally.....

No amount is too small. You'd be surprised the impact of the lunch money you consider small is to Missionaries.

They need as much help and prayers as they can get! We need all hands on deck.

If you need mission fields you want to support, you can reach out to me here.

Summarily,
